Kubb, pronounced "Koob," is a yard game played by two teams in which the goal is to knock down your opponent's wooden blocks, called Kubbs, on the opposite side of the field by throwing wooden batons. When Kubbs are knocked over, they are thrown back into the field and must be knocked down again before play continues. Teams must first clear all these field Kubbs before attempting to knock down the remaining back-row Kubbs. Once all of an opponent's Kubbs have been knocked down, a team can then try to topple the King in the center of the field to win the game.

TOURNAMENT FORMAT:

Each team will play six best-of-one seeding matches, with each match lasting 25 minutes. After the six seeding matches, the top eight teams will advance to the Championship Bracket. First round winners will continue in the Championship Bracket, while first round losers will compete in the Silver Bracket. The Championship Bracket will consist of best-of-three matches, while the Silver Bracket will feature a best-of-one match.
